

Amos Onyango Okello holds BSc from University of Nairobi and an MA in International Relations from United States International University. Amos was a junior faculty member in the school of Social and Intercultural Studies at the Kenya Polytechnic University College (University of Nairobi) where he taught international relations and diplomacy. He has also worked with Aga Khan University, (EA) in Nairobi as a Continuous Medical Education Coordinator. Amos was a co-founder and a Director of East Africa Institute of International Affairs.

Research Interests:

- Challenges to Peacebuilding by the United Nations
- Water Utilization
- Security Challenges in the Nile Basin