

Conflict, Security and Development (CSD) is an academic, peer-reviewed journal launched in 2000 by CSDG. The journal bridges traditional development and security studies and provides analysis of the critical policy challenges facing countries in the Global South.

Editor Dylan Hendrickson, King's College London Managing Editor Catherine Carney, King's College London

CSD is published four times a year by Routledge. For further information on subscribing to the journal, click here Editorial correspondence, including manuscripts and disks, should be addressed to Catherine Carney, Managing Editor, Conflict, Security and Development, King's College London, Strand, London WC2R 2LS, UK. Email: csdjournal@kcl.ac.uk

The following articles were written by CSDG staff and associates and are made available here by Taylor and Francis for a wider audience:

Volume 1:1 Security Sector Reform: Development Breakthrough or Institutional Engineering By Chris Smith Cambodia's Security Sector Reforms: Limits of A Down-Sizing Strategy By Dylan Hendrickson Transforming Security Sectors: The IMF and World Bank Approaches Tr

By Nicole Ball

Volume 4:2

Windows of Opportunity for Conflict Prevention: Responding to Regional Conflict in West Africa

By 'Funmi Olonisakin

Volume 5:2

Democratizing Security Sector Governance in West Africa: Trends and Challenges By Alan Bryden, Boubacar N'Diaye and 'Funmi Olonisakin

Volume 6:1

Why the World Needs Millenium Security Goals By Robert Picciotto Volume 6:4

The Challenges and Lessons for Security Sector Reform in Post-Conflict Sierra Leone

By Adedeji Ebo Volume 7:1 - Special Issue: Global Development and Human Security: Towards a Policy Agenda Introduction. By Michael Clarke

Youths in the interface of development and security.

By Olawale Ismail and Abiodun Alao

The role of security sector reform in sustainable development: donor policy trends and challenges.

By Adedeji Ebo

Gender, security and development.

By Marsha Henry

Challenging the discourse on fragile states

.

By Eka Ikpe

The governance of global security and development: convergence, divergence and coherence.

By Randolph Kent

Intervening in conflict: the policy issues.

By John Mackinlay

Environmental security and development.

By Alexis Rwabizambuga

Articles can also be accessed via the general issues list: click here